Introduction

VinceGames takes the privacy of our players very seriously. We make an effort to only collect the data we need to operate our game and our business. This document explains clearly how we collect, store and share information (if any) that we collect in our game ("Rabbit Universe") or through customer service provided for our game. Should you have any questions about your data please feel free to contact us at vbedapple@gmail.com.

If you are under the age of 18 please read the section on 'Children' below.

Acceptance of Terms

By using our game and the services it provides, you accept the policies laid out in this document. Additionally, you acknowledge and consent that we will collect, process, store, and share data as explained in this document. If you do not consent you can simply not play our game or use our services. Much of the data collection and processing we do can be disabled in the settings for our app, but some data collection is necessary to prevent fraud and ensure proper operation of our app.

Updates

We are constantly adding features and auditing our Privacy Practices. As such this document is likely to change over time. By continuing to play our game and use our services your acceptance of these updates is implied.

What Data Do We Collect? And Why?

Information You Provide

VinceGames collects minimal information you provide. To access some features you will be asked to give yourself a nickname, and we collect that information. If you request customer service, any information you send to us will be logged in our support inbox.

Information We Collect Automatically

The majority of the information we collect is automatic and based on your usage of our app and services. This namely consists of:

- Your game data for backup / restore, customer service, and for certain features to function (leaderboard stats, including your lifetime rabbits and BigBang count).
- Your approximate location (country-level only, derived from your IP address), used to display your country flag and position on the in-game leaderboard globe.
- Device information and identifiers, collected via Google AdMob, to display and measure the performance of advertisements shown in our game, and to attribute installs driven by those ads.

Information From Third Parties

VinceGames collects a unique player identifier from Unity Technologies' Authentication service, which you are automatically assigned when you first play. We use this to enable features in the game based on your unique player identity, such as save game backup/recovery and leaderboard participation.

Information We DON'T Collect

VinceGames:

- DOES NOT collect or store your email, phone number, address, or any other sensitive personal information (except if you contact customer service via email)
- DOES NOT collect information about your age, gender, ethnicity, sexual orientation, or any health-related information
- DOES NOT collect your real name
- DOES NOT collect biometric information
- DOES NOT collect internet, search, or network activity information beyond what's needed for the game to function
- DOES NOT collect sensor data, camera, microphone, or temperature data
- DOES NOT collect professional or education status

How Do We Collect & Store Data?

The data we collect comes from our game and our customer service operations.

It is transmitted over the web (encrypted via HTTPS), and stored on servers operated by Unity Technologies.

If your data being transmitted through servers operated by Unity Technologies is not allowed in your territory, DO NOT use our app or services.

While your use of the app gives us consent to collect and process the data, you may WITHDRAW consent at any time in the SETTINGS portion of our app for specific features. If this level of control is not adequate you MUST stop using our services.

What Data Do We Have About You?

Please see the section above on what data we collect if you are curious about the kind of data we have on you. If you want to know explicitly what information we have on you personally, please contact us at vbedapple@gmail.com.

What Power Do I Have Over My Data?

Depending on where you live, you have a range of power over your data, but at VinceGames we currently extend the most common powers to everyone.

Right To Access

You have the right to see any data we have on you. Contact vbedapple@gmail.com to request this.

Right To Data Mobility

You have the right to move your data to another service, however the data VinceGames has is not usable on any other service, as it is unique and proprietary to Rabbit Universe.

Right To Be Forgotten

At any point should you want us and our partners to "forget" you, contact vbedapple@gmail.com to request deletion of your data. Note that this action cannot be undone.

Right To Not Have Your Data Sold

VinceGames does not sell any data we collect, to anyone. Our advertising partner (Google AdMob) may process some data as described in their own privacy policy — see Third Parties below for more information.

As the controller of your data, we carry out your right to be forgotten and right to not have your data sold to the best of our ability, but our partners are not bound by this requirement, and should you not possess the rights of a GDPR customer or CCPA customer, they may deny your request.
